“Being a student host for the Visiting Executive Program at Tuck was one of my favorite experiences—which is saying a lot, since my two years at Tuck were spectacular! What I found unique was the opportunity for small groups of Tuck students to meet with and talk to these incredibly talented and bright executives over great food and a nice bottle of wine. It’s the perfect intimate and informal setting to facilitate great conversations. I was honored to be chosen by the Tuck development team and the T’00 VE hosts to represent Tuck with this esteemed group of visitors.”

“Life has come full circle for me—I am now an official member of the Tuck development team. Before I returned to Tuck in May 2006, I worked at Business Intelligence Advisors with several other Tuck alumni, as a director of investor client relations. Back here in Hanover, I spend my days working with the Tuck team and my fellow alumni on Tuck Annual Giving and on alumni outreach—everywhere from New York to London to Palo Alto. It doesn’t get much better than this! I am thrilled to be back at Tuck and working with such a terrific team of old friends and new colleagues.”
