

Tuck School of Business at Dartmouth
Faculty Search in Financial Accounting
August, 2012

The Tuck School of Business at Dartmouth, Dartmouth College's graduate school of management, anticipates a faculty search in accounting during the 2012-13 academic year. We are open to all levels of appointment - Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Full Professor - and we will be recruiting at the new-Ph.D. level. Applicants must have a Ph.D. or be near completion of a doctoral degree in accounting or a related field. We strongly encourage applications to be submitted by January 4, 2013.

We seek candidates who will produce research of excellent quality that will have high impact on the field. There must be evidence that the candidate can conduct research and teach at a level of quality consistent with Tuck's high standards. We are interested in candidates who can interact effectively with others and enhance the intellectual environment of the school.

The Tuck School of Business, founded in 1900, is consistently ranked among the top ten U.S. business schools. The Accounting group includes Robert Resutek, Leslie Robinson, Richard Sansing, and Phillip Stocken.

The Tuck School fosters an environment that is intellectually stimulating and interdisciplinary. We welcome diversity. We look for excellence in both research and teaching and provide ample financial and logistical support in a highly collegial culture as a means to achieve these ends. The School provides faculty with state-of-the-art computer technology enhanced with in-house programming support. Library and academic coordinator support is generous, as is the funding is provided for research assistance and for travel related to either research or teaching.

Chartered in 1761, the town of Hanover is a charming rural New England town that boasts sophisticated educational and cultural resources. The college is the town's largest employer. Residents enjoy a first-rate public school system and an award-winning teaching hospital, among other amenities. Recreational opportunities are abundant all year round, from paddling on the Connecticut River, to golf or skiing at college facilities that are open to the public, to hiking the Appalachian Trail, which runs through town.

Hanover is located in the scenic Upper Valley of the Connecticut River, two hours from Boston, three hours from Montreal, and five hours from New York City.
